Native of South Bay Marks 102nd Birthday

Saskatoon octogenarian William Ferguson makes a hobby of collecting chronological statistics on the female members of his family who live past the century mark. Although he doesn't have to go far from his family tree to find centenarians, it sometimes involves considerable travelling to the parties which mark their birthdays.

Last week the widower was in Kingston attending the 102nd birthday party of his cousin, Alice De-witta, who was born at South Bay in Prince Edward County.

It's an annual trip he has made "for I can't remember how many years".

Miss Dewitta is the first of Mr.
Ferguson's paternal relatives to exceed the 100-year life span. Four members of the family on his mother's side have lived past the century mark.

All have been women.

Mr. Ferguson says he is "going to do my level best" to change that.

"I'm pretty well myself", the octo-genarian said Friday. "I live a good clean life and feel fit as a fiddle. I can't say for sure I am going to make it to 100, but I'm going to try.
The women have it all over us when it comes to things like that".

Miss Dewitta's party Friday was a quiet affair, although a number of friends came to visit her at St.
Mary's on the Lake Hospital where she has been a resident for 12 years since she strained her back.

His mother and grandmother lived to the age of 102, and a great grandmother was 100 when she died.
An aunt died only two months before her 107th birthday.

"So I've got a lot of living to do", the westerner said.

Mr. Ferguson estimates he must have between 40 and 50 relatives living in the Kingston area.

There are branches of the family in Montreal, London, Ontario, Granby, Quebec, Regina and Vancouver.

Most originally come from the Kingston area, "but I was the family outlaw. I didn't have any brains and so I went west".

"Now I wouldn't live anywhere else except Saskatoon.

Mr. Ferguson retired in 1946 when his kind of job also retired.

From 1900 when he went west, he was with boiler gangs, maintaining the boilers on railway steam-engines for the Canadian National Railways.

Now he works as superintendant of an apartment building in Saskatoon.

Parish Register--St. George's Kingston, Ont.

"The Benefactors of the Members of the English Congregation for Erecting a Church at Kingston."

Mr. Jo. Ferguson 1.5.4

John Ferguson. In the Kingston Gazette of July 21, 1812, Mr. Ferguson and Alexander McDonnell advertised for sale "that pleasantly ~~xxxxxx~~ situated and commodious house, near the town of Kingston, lately the property of Sir John Johnson." This may perhaps be taken to a certain extent as corroboration of Col. Clark's statement that Mr. Ferguson was a son-in-law of Sir William Johnson and Mrs. Molly Brant, though in another place he speaks of him in the same connection as "Farquarson." The third entry in Dr. Stuart's Register of Marriages is that of

John Ferguson and Helen Johnson, in 1791

Whatever may be the truth of the matter just mentioned, there is no doubt that Mr. Ferguson was a man of some importance in the community. According to Dr. Adam Shortt (Early Records of Ontario, p. 43) and the late Dr. W. Wilfred Campbell (A List of Members of the House of Assembly, p. 173), he represented Frontenac in the second Parliament of Upper Canada from 1800 to 1804, the records of the Quarter Sessions containing references to the assessment of the amount of his 'wages' as member. Other activities are set out by Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C., in Vol. 12 of Papers & Records of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society, p. 7.

Representations were made to the Executive Council at York by Mr. Ferguson and his fellow-commissioners of roads, on November 17, 1807, expressing their willingness "to relinquish their share of £1000 because the bridge over the river (route) is down." (J.C. State Book B, p. 78). These fellow-commissioners were Richard Cartwright, Hazelton Spencer, Alexander Fisher, John Cumming, Joseph Forsyth, and James Fulton.

On May 11, 1795, Mr. Ferguson was said to have been entered for Lot 150 on the old plan of Newark (L. W. Smith papers, Vol. B 5, p. 38). In 1797 he laid claim to certain lots in the Township of Sidney, and "the Lot next adjoining the North end of the town of Kingston (Ibid, Vol. B.16, p. 109).

According to the Council Minutes of April 16, 1795 (C Series, Vol. 282, I, p. 295) he, like many other men, was in the colonizing business. On the date in question he, with Robert Kerr, William Johnson, James Vannorne, and others Associated Loyalists, was granted "a Township to the Southward of the River Trent, and in the Rear of the Township of Murray or Cramahe.
